Awareness and understanding of the Code of Conduct is promoted to Employees by face-to-face training, e-learning and effective internal communication.

SUMITOMO ELECTRIC GROUP

Sumitomo Electric Wiring Systems (Europe) Ltd (SEWS-E Group)

As of July 2021, SEG formally adopted the SEG Supplier Code of Conduct (“SCoC”) which replaces the CSR Procurement Guidelines. SEG seeks to do business with suppliers that share our commitment to integrity and to conducting business in compliance with the law. The SCoC is applicable to SEG suppliers globally, including SEWS-E Group’s suppliers. The SEWS-E Group intends that compliance with the SCoC will be included as a contractual term in all future commercial contracts: (i) to ensure suppliers’ commitment to compliance, including to preventing Modern Slavery and other Human Rights violations and (ii) to enable the SEWS-E Group to work with the supplier to address identified concerns or provide to the SEWS-E Group a right to terminate any contract with its suppliers that fails to respect the SCoC provisions.

SEG enacted a global Policy on Human Rights (the “Human Rights Policy”) which is guided by the “International Bill of Human Rights”, the “ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work”, and the “Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights” of the United Nations to respond to the various needs of our stakeholders and to show our commitment to respecting human rights that abide by international standards.

The Human Rights Policy reflects SEG’s commitment to drive continuous improvements within our business and details its fundamental principles with regards to the protection of human rights. The Human Rights Policy applies to the SEWS-E Group as a subsidiary of SEG. SEG also expects all business partners related to its business activities to comply with the Policy.

Commercial practices

In addition to the high-level policies, day-to-day commercial practices have been developed which require the SEWS-E Group’s suppliers to agree to and comply with legal compliance and ethical conduct terms, including, by adhering to enhanced Modern Slavery clauses in their contracts with the SEWS-E Group.

Due diligence

As part of the SEG Compliance Programme, new and current business partners must go through SEWS-E’s due diligence process in order for SEG to be assured that the business partners it engages with meet the required standards of ethical conduct. To ensure that SEG’s initiatives are promoted in line with the Human Rights Policy, fact-finding investigations will be conducted regularly of our stakeholders, including domestic and overseas affiliates.

Additionally, SEG continues to monitor the development of the EU Commission’s proposal for a corporate due diligence and accountability directive, which will place legal obligations on businesses to conduct detailed due diligence of its supply chains. When this directive is implemented the SEG Group shall formulate guidance and training for its employees to ensure compliance with the requirements of the directive

Risk Assessment

The risk of Modern Slavery prevailing within the SEWS-E Group and its supply chains has been assessed with the outcome of a low risk rating. Nevertheless, we continue to regularly monitor the risk and the risk rating within the SEWS-E Group business and its supply chains. In FY2020/2021, SEG continued to conduct a Human Rights review of its migrant labour workforce in EMEA (including SEWS-E) as well as on a global basis, in order to appraise and decrease any Modern Slavery risks identified amongst migrant workers and ensure compliance with SEG’s zero fee recruitment policy.

Training

Training is provided regularly within the SEWS-E Group to build awareness of unethical conduct including Modern Slavery. All employees at the SEWS-E Group receive ongoing training on the SEG Code of Conduct which, includes express references to the Human Rights Policy.

In FY 2021/2022, SEG will extend training to heighten awareness of other forms of modern slavery and human trafficking. SEG encourages continuous dialogue between their subsidiaries to heighten awareness of the risk of Modern Slavery.

Whistleblowing/Speak up

SEG continues to develop its ‘speak up’ culture that encourages a workplace where Employees feel comfortable raising concerns about unsafe, unethical or unlawful practices. This ‘speak up’ culture is facilitated, in part, by an external hotline \(operated by Navex\), with an option of anonymity, for Employees or business partners to raise their concerns. All reports raised internally or via the external hotline are taken seriously and follow a documented procedure for review and/or investigation in order that the concerns are addressed appropriately. The Speak Up Policy prohibits retaliation against those that raise concerns of unsafe, unethical or unlawful practices.

Reports raised internally or via the external hotline is one method that is used to measure the effectiveness of training and the levels of awareness and understanding of Employees of unethical practices including on Modern Slavery. In addition, self-assessment questionnaires asking Employees to share their thoughts about the possible risks of Modern Slavery within the SEWS-E Group business and supply chains shall aid in developing the true risk exposure. SEG continues to monitor and improve its existing policies and procedures to ensure their effectiveness.

In FY 2020/2021, SEG has conducted a review of the Speak Up procedure to ensure compliance with the EU Directive on the Protection of Whistleblowers (EU Directive 2019/1937 of 23 October 2019); as part of this review SEG has ensured the Speak Up system is easily accessible to external suppliers and made it clear in the revised Speak Up Policy that matters relating to Modern Slavery breaches remain a reportable concern. During the remainder of the review SEG is committed to providing training to managers on identifying reportable concerns including those related to modern slavery and promoting the Speak Up system forthrightly to all employees no matter their job title or location.

SEG has also committed to prioritising investigations related to human rights, modern slavery and employee issues with a view to completing such investigations in the shortest time possible and in FY 2020/2021 such cases have generally been investigated, resolved and closed within 1-3 months.

Intent

SEG recognizes its responsibility to respect and enhance human rights and is committed to developing and improving the knowledge base of its Employees. It remains committed to continue working ethically and responsibly for the respect of human rights ensuring that each company of SEG, including the SEWS-E Group, will uphold this standard. SEG also intends to progress the due diligence activity adding a risk categorization for human rights and work alongside with the recruitment companies to ensure they understand our recruitment principles and mitigate Modern Slavery risks.

The SEWS-E Group is similarly committed to continuing the encouragement of its suppliers in assessing their own business and supply chains for Modern Slavery and human trafficking, and the SEWS-E Group is emboldened due to the adoption of the SCoC and intends to work with SEG to formulate a SCOC compliance audit strategy of its suppliers.

This statement has been approved by the SEWS-E Group management team.
